A network meeting your expectations with Aruba

Montreal, Qc | October 6th, 2016 – You want a network more intelligent, ready for the IoT and mobile devices? Aruba offers several services and products that may optimize your network! Indeed, from access points, to network management up to Mobile-First platform, you'll find what you need.

Access Points

300, 310, 320 and 330 series access points work with ClientMatch technology, guaranteeing a fast connection at any time and compatibility with the MIMO devices. They include a BLE marker (Bluetooth Low Energy) allowing off-site management of Aruba battery markers.

Controllers

These will allow engineering of networks, IP services, platforms and security policy controls while taking into account the applications. You can also use them as gateways to branches, VPN concentrators, WIDS/WIPS, spectrum controllers and network firewalls with status including integrated content filtering.

WIFI Analysis

Protect privacy while collecting presence data on mobile WIFI. This data can be integrated with third-party solutions by converting it into actionable information.

Network Management

It's up to you to manage your network at your leisure offering you several options, such as the management of Instant access point's cluster, management and monitoring of your network, wired, wireless or by gateways, of your branches in the cloud and other.

Outdoor Mesh

Offer the intelligent level 3 routing and take charge of wireless access and backhaul with full mesh, point-to-point and point-to-multipoint with AirMesh wireless meshed networks.

Switches

The new generation switches offers a performance and reliability of mobile-first type being scalable and secure, with ports to multiple Gigabit ports HPE Smart Rate while providing high-speed connectivity.

Mobile-First Platform

Accelerate the adoption of your projects related to mobility and distinguish your business from the competition with the platform Mobile-First, a layer of intelligent software that transforms the connectivity user-friendly for your mobile user's experience.
